Unit 1: A letter to an exchange school

Sample answer 1

Dear Head of Languages At my school everyone have to Learn English, but we also have a choice of other language, french or spanish. Personally, I choose Spanish, because too many people are speaking that language in many countries in south America, I also understand a little bit Hindi, because my father is from India, and his mother is only speaking Hindi. I started learning English at primary school, but I did not like it much, because our teacher was quite bored. But, at my secondary school, the teacher is really good and we do a lot of work on-line, she knows many useful websights, I like especially the interactive. I enjoy to learn English because it opens for me a more bigger world, there are many fasinating documentries on-line. And because so many people in the world are speaking English it is something as a passport for international travel. I am exciting about coresponding with students from your school. Yours sincerely 162 words	Attempt Adequate. Language/Ambition Some ambition, appropriate vocabulary and some more complex grammatical forms. Range Quite good lexical and grammatical range, but some lapses of control. Organisation/Cohesion Appropriately paragraphed. Some use of linking words. Sometimes a single sentence contains too many unlinked clauses, e.g. 'But, ... interactive.' Accuracy Errors fairly frequent. Some spelling mistakes, e.g. 'websights', punctuation errors, e.g. 'french', confusion between -ing/-ed forms, and some problems with simple/continuous tenses. Communicative achievement Meaning can be readily determined, despite fairly frequent achievement errors. Content On task – all requirement fulfilled.

Sample answer 2

Dear head of language I am happy to be one who write you this letter since I have heard we can exchange school languages with you and I love the language too much since I start to learn in the primary school. That is why my teacher was so kind and the lessons always funny specially with the cartons like the Mickey Mouse in English. I think the languages really important for the job and if you are known the Chinese and English the job is more easier to find. For this reasons I learn the Chinese and English for the good job as buisnessman in future. and I am sure we can learn each other so well with the help from your school. Yours sincerely, 126 words	Attempt Inadequate Language/Ambition Some ambition, an attempt to use original language, but not always successful. Range Limited range of vocabulary, some attempt at more complex grammatical forms, not always successful. Organisation/Cohesion Lacks paragraphing. Some attempt to use linking words, e.g. 'since' and 'For this reasons.' Accuracy Frequent errors in punctuation, e.g. missing capitals ('head of language'). Some problems with articles, e.g. overuse of 'the'. Some errors with verb forms, e.g. 'since I start to learn', 'if you are known'. Communicative achievement Meaning can usually be determined, but errors are noticeable. Content On task.

Unit 2: A report on school buildings and facilities

Sample answer 1

A report on school buildings and facilities The buildings: The school was built 35 years ago, and although the quality build has been excellent, there are a number of things which need now attending. All the windows are single. This means that the central heaters are neccessary even in spring and autumn. If the windows were double the rooms would be more comfortable and much energy would save. The outdoor areas: We are fortunate to have a very large field next to the school. But it would be very helpful to divide it into sections. There is space to mark out football, baseball and volley areas. Also, a place for tennis, with a fence to keep the ball. Finally, a swimming pool would be so good and would give the students good healthy. The facilities We have a cafe in the school, but all the food is coming from outside, so often it is not so fresh or hot. If the cafe was added a kitchen, we could eat fresh food at lunchtime. With regard to music, there is no special place for students to practise the instruments. Small rooms to hold the sound would be useful. Suggestion: The changes to the school need quite a lot money. We suggest each class discuss how to make money for the changes. 220 words	Attempt Good. Language/Ambition Some ambition here, and some natural language, e.g. 'It would be very helpful to divide it into sections.' Second conditional introduced in the unit is used correctly. Range Reasonable range of grammar and vocabulary, and where specific words are not known, suitable paraphrase is used, e.g. 'a place for tennis, ...'. Organisation/Cohesion Very well organised, in appropriate form for report, with headings and recommendation. Accuracy Generally accurate, some problems with verb tenses and passive voice, e.g. 'much energy would save'. Communicative achievement Reader informed, ideas clearly communicated. Content On task.

Sample answer 2

A report on school buildings and facilities.

There are several things we think can be improved. The computer room is always too full which I can not use it. they could make more bigger and also we need new machines the are always broken and the responsible for the mechanic never was there. We think that the outdoor area could be improved. the should cut the trees and make more space for football and if we had a cafe we'd able to buy a drink and sandwich and the papers in the recycling bins.

We would like a studio film. A lot of students are interested in make and edit the film. We appreciate the chance and help our answers are helpful.

121 words

Attempt

Inadequate.

Language/Ambition

Much of the language here is lifted from the model, although the ideas are original. Language limited and frequently incorrect.

Range

Everyday vocabulary correctly used, but grammatical forms simple and often incorrect.

Organisation/Cohesion

Poorly organised, lacking linking words and cohesive devices.

Accuracy

Frequent errors occur with original language, e.g. '... which I cannot use it.'

Communicative achievement

Target reader partially informed, with the help of lifted phrases and sentences.

Content

Three main content points addressed but not developed.

Unit 3: A letter to the town council

Sample answer 1

Dear Sir/Madam I am a student at the Dartland College, and I hope to study the urban planning at University next year. I have to do a project on the local area and suggest how it can be improved. This area is in an old part of city, and there are some beautiful old buildings. However, unfortunately, there is a lot heavy traffic passing through, so the buildings looking very dark and gloomy from the smoke. If the buildings could be clean, and the heavy traffic in other streets, this area could become a tourist attraction. These days, more and more people are using bicycles for transport, and most of students travel by bicycle. It would encourage more people to cycle if special parking areas could be in town for cyclists. That would mean local environment healthier and safer. Another key issue is the lack of trees in the area. A few years ago, there were a lot of but they were cut down because of a disease. Surely it is time to plant new ones. I look forward to hearing from you, Yours Faithfully, 185 words	Attempt Good. Language/Ambition Some ambition, quite complex structure, generally good control of language, e.g. passive voice, but some problems with articles. Range Adequate range of vocabulary, with some less frequently used lexis. Organisation/Cohesion Well paragraphed, good organisation overall, and a variety of linkers and cohesive devices. Accuracy Generally accurate, except for errors with articles, sometimes omitting 'a', sometimes adding unnecessary 'the'. Communicative achievement Holds reader's attention and communicates ideas competently. Content Original ideas. On task.
---	---

Sample answer 2

Dear head of council

It is so important the quality air and our town needs better. The traffic is much and many heavy vehicles like buses and trucks are drive right through the town everyday. This makes so much smoke that gets inside the humans and is very bad for all the health in town. Also when the buses are stopping in the bus station they do not switch the engine which makes smoke right in the centre. The parents of the schoolchildren also like to drive them to school and home so at school times there is always so many queues of smoking traffic.

The solution for this is making a big circle road outside the town so trucks do not need enter town and to give a free bus service to all children at school.

Please, head of council think about my ideas they must be quite popular.

Yours Sincerely

152 words

Attempt

Inadequate.

Language/Ambition

Quite ambitious with some original ideas, but fairly basic vocabulary. Some attempt at more complex structure, but not always successful.

Range

Vocabulary quite basic, paraphrasing used at times, e.g. 'a big circle road outside the town'. Most sentences have at least two clauses, demonstrating an attempt at complexity.

Organisation/Cohesion

Not very well organised, and omits much of the guidance from the Learner's Book. Separate points are not paragraphed as requested. Not many linking words.

Accuracy

Some grammatical errors, e.g. 'The traffic is much ... and trucks are drive ...'.

Communicative achievement

Holds the reader's attention and communicates ideas.

Content

Task is not competed satisfactorily. The writer has not introduced her/himself, has not started with something positive and has not put each suggestion in a separate paragraph. The suggestions/tips have not been followed and the reader is only partly informed.

Unit 4: An advertisement

Sample answer 1

Fizzo! The drink everyone talks about now. Why? Because it is the most tastiest and healthiest fruit drink you can buy! Marvellous mangoes, luscious limes, the sweetest strawberries add up a refreshing vitamin-rich drink with a fizz! Get Fizzo today. You'll adore it! 43 words	Attempt Very good. Language/Ambition Appropriate language for this task, good use of alliteration as suggested. Short, sharp sentences. Range Adequate range for this task, good use of adjectives. Organisation/Cohesion Short, but well organised, first introducing product, then describing it, appropriate imperative. Accuracy Mostly accurate – 'most' unnecessary and redundant. Communicative achievement Communicates effectively. Content On task. Note: The stylistic features of writing to persuade are beyond the requirements of the Cambridge Lower Secondary English as a Second Language curriculum framework.

Sample answer 2

Take your family to an award-winning holiday.
You will can stay in luxury logcabin.

Moreover, your family can snorkelling, scuba diving and surfing also. Your family can go island boat trips, what's more. This holiday might be not forgotten. Everyone love the sea.

42 words

Attempt

Poor.

Language/Ambition

Little ambition. Very little original language.

Range

Very limited. Most lexis comes from prompts.

Organisation/Cohesion

Some attempt at organisation, but use of linkers,
e.g. 'Moreover' and 'what's more', inappropriate
for this task.

Accuracy

Frequent errors, for example with verb forms,
e.g. 'will can stay', problems with prepositions.

Communicative achievement

Reader informed, but unlikely to be motivated to take this holiday.

Content

On task.

Sample answer 1

I live in Ariège, in South of France. My school is in the Pyrenees, a beautiful group of mountains what separate France from Spain. This area is well known as a a tourist area for ski in winter. Here is so many resources, like trees, that you can make wood for building. Also in this area can grow many fruit and vegetables, such as abricot and cherrys. Beautiful, clear water comes from the snow mountain.

My school is old, but very strong also. Which because it has been made from a mountain stone. However, the thick stone is holding the heat in winter, but keeping the cool in summer. Recently was put the eco-friendly solar at the roof for electricity power, although in the winter it was necessary to burn the wood in order to make warm the school.

We have lessons about environmetal at the school and sometimes go out the school in order to see the nature. There is a dangerous plant what grows so fast and kills other plants, so that we need to see and understand how to stop it. I like to go out the school, and learn the environment outside.

Sample answer 2

I live in a beautiful island, in the Atlantic ocean. Its name is Lanzarote, and it is one of the Spanish Canary Islands. It is volcanic island and there is still a volcano activity on the island. Is very popular this island with tourists especially in winter when the temperature usually never goes less than 20 degrees. Cesar Manrique is a famous person from Lanzarote Island. He was an artist and philosopher. He understood about the dangerous of tourists and helped to preserve the enviroment in lot of ways. He wanted to build using local resources, for example volcano stones stuck with earth, thick walls against heat and wind and painted white with local natural paint. So that reflects the solar heat and makes them cool and pretty. And this is how my school is without concrete and plastic while there is a tank to catch any water we can use. I feel nice in this school and teachers tell about Cesar and his ideas to keep our island in good conditions. 172 words	Attempt Good. Unit 6: An account of a place that could be a World Heritage Site

Sample answer 1

Hi! My name is Louis, and I live in Arles, in the South of France, near to a very special place, called the Camargue, 100,000 hectares of secret beauty. Why is it so special? It is a special area situated between two rivers: a sanctuaire for fauna and flora with an unique landscape. That is why I think it should become a World Heritage Site. It is easy to arrive to the Camargue, just 30 minutes from Arles by bus or car. But when you arrive to there, you can choice between many kinds of transports, for example, horse, bicycle or even a small ship. Taking a horse is so easy. There are beautiful wild white horses, and some of them you can ride. Also this is one of the most important places to see the birds, for example the flamingo. There are special view places in the best areas to see them. Although other places may look more spectaculer, in the Camargue, you are always near to nature, like horses and wild bulls; you can also buy local salt and rice which they grow. 185 words	Attempt Very good. Language/Ambition Quite ambitious, attempt at original language, e.g. 'secret beauty', and some complex grammatical forms, e.g. 'That is why I think it should become ...'. Range Good range of vocabulary, good use of paraphrasing to describe, e.g. 'special view places'. Organisation/Cohesion Appropriately paragraphed, well organised, correctly punctuated. Variety of linking words and cohesive devices. Accuracy Some errors, e.g. 'when you arrive to there, you can choice', but communication is not impeded. Communicative achievement Communicates ideas, both simple and more complex effectively. Content On task, follows the requirements in the Learner's Book.

Unit 8: An essay about what makes a good story

Sample answer 1

What makes a Good Story First of all I think that a good story must have interesting characters it should also have an exciting plot and written well so it's easy to read and enjoyable. I like stories that contain horror. One of my favourite books was Dracula. I've read it again and is full of horror. However I realise that I like more realistic stories I like the war for example. To conclude my view is that good stories contain similar qualities interesting characters and horror and war they are never disappointing 93 words	Attempt Inadequate. Language/Ambition Almost all of this text is lifted from the model text, with very few changes. Range Very limited original language. Organisation/Cohesion Paragraphing mirrors the model text, but no additional linkers or cohesive devices are used. First and third paragraphs are single, unpunctuated sentences. Accuracy Language is mostly accurate as it follows the model text so closely. Communicative achievement Basic ideas communicated, through language lifted from the model text. Content Very little new language introduced and few suggested phrases from the Learner's Book are used.

Sample answer 2

What makes a good story? Firstly, my view is that a good story must have people you can believe they are interesting people also. It is good if the people also change because the story happens. The end is also important, but it does not matter when the end is not clear. That often is like life. So, in my opinion a good story can get into the head of the main person so we know what does he think about the things in the story. For example in Tales of Terror, Joseph's dog, Jess smells the bottom of a tree and suddenly runs away. Joseph understand something very bad about that tree, but he must try not to afraid, and climb it. Then he looks some writing in the tree Don't Climb. We feel with Joseph some exciting but also afraid. I think that when a story is exciting is better to read so I like this kind of story. However, Girl of Ink and Stars is also exciting about Isabella that has to save her island by kill the fire dragon. Even you know it is not real because of monsters it gets in your head. In summary, the more important about the story is the people. They must be interested and at the end also, we must have a good feeling to them. 226 words	Attempt Adequate. Language/Ambition Original ideas, but some lack of control. Frequent use of phrases suggested in the unit, generally used correctly. Range Somewhat limited vocabulary, e.g. 'people' – 'characters' is in the model answer. Some attempt at more complex grammar. Organisation/Cohesion Appropriately paragraphed, good use of linkers, and some cohesive devices. Accuracy Generally accurate grammatically. Some errors, e.g. '... we know what does he think ...' and '... the more important ...'. Communicative achievement Reader generally informed, but some ideas a little confusing, e.g. 'It is good if the people also change because the story happens.' Content On task.

Unit 9: A personal account about music

Sample answer 1

I like many different types of music especially classic music. I listen always to music at the mornings while I am ready for school. It can help me to feel relax, even when I have school test, and also when I make the homework. I also listen in my school breaks to my phone and we sing all the days at the school. But when I am out in the downtown I sometimes hear too much music which makes me a little bit crazy like in a shop clothes, sometimes the music is too loud to think. I think the music for important occasions, like big sport times as the Olympic games. It makes memories for us. And many music makes for me memories, like the song I heard with my girlfriend always makes me remember us. Yes, music is universal because I like listen to music in other language. I don't understand the words, but the feelings yes. I like to play a music instrument, but I tried trumpet and violin and they are difficult so I look for one easier, maybe guitar could be. 183 words	Attempt Adequate. Language/Ambition The account follows the requirements of the exercise quite closely, but little original language is used. Some lack of control, e.g. 'I think ... as the Olympic games.' Range Limited range of vocabulary and grammar. Organisation/Cohesion Appropriately paragraphed; some linking words used, though not always correctly, e.g. 'while'. Accuracy Frequent errors, e.g. adjectives, 'different'; word order, e.g. 'a shop clothes'; lexis, e.g. 'make the homework'; verbs, e.g. 'it can makes'. Communicative achievement Simple ideas communicated, reader informed. Content On task, nearly all questions from Exercise 1 dealt with.

Sample answer 2

What music means to me I am listening to many different kinds of music. My favourite is jazz, any kind of jazz, from the early traditional music to the most modern. I love to hear the saxophone and my favourite player is Charlie Parker a leader of the be-bop movement. I specially enjoy to listen in the evening after homework and dinner when my parents are watching tv I go to my room and open my playlist. I also love to dance to music and when I am doing something physical before sleep is beneficial. We have music lessons at school. Our teacher plays us only classical music however that I do not find very exciting. Music is played on important occasions like weddings for add an emotional aspect to the occasion. For me the memorable music is the song which I was singing the first time I have performed in public 'What a wonderful world.' Music makes our world wonderful, every culture has its own music, and personally, I love to hear the musics of other cultures. I don't play a musical instrument, but I am the lead singer from our school jazz band. I love this and maybe one day we will become populer. 206 words	Attempt Very good. Language/Ambition Ambitious account, good overall control with language specific to music used appropriately and some original ideas, e.g. 'Music makes our world wonderful'. Range A good range of lexis within this context and some attempt at a more complex structure. Organisation/Cohesion The account is paragraphed appropriately, but some more complex sentences could be better punctuated, e.g. 'I specially enjoy ... playlist.' Not many linkers used, but overall the text is quite cohesive. Accuracy Generally accurate, occasional errors with verbs, e.g. 'I am listening to ...', 'I enjoy to listen'; number, e.g. 'musics'; and prepositions, but errors do not impede meaning. Communicative achievement Reader's attention held, and ideas communicated successfully. Content On task, all content points addressed.
